Students are allowed to take one Pass/Fail course per term; P denotes a passing grade, with credit granted, F denotes a failure grade and is included in GPA calculation. Once this option is selected, it can not be revoked. In a Bachelor's or Associate's degree program, you are limited to three Pass/Fail courses in total.

Students are not allowed to take courses in their major department, cognate courses required by the major, or courses given through the Honors Program using the Pass/Fail Option. It is also not available for basic courses in writing, composition, reading, any developmental courses, or to satisfy matriculation requirements. A student must also have six earned credits to take a course using the Pass/Fail option. A CAS/SBA student who has completed at least one semester of courses at Saint Peter's College or an SPCS student who has earned at least six credits may register for one course each summer (including Intersession) on a Pass/Fail basis.
